A watch is a small timepiece, typically worn either on the wrist or attached on a chain and carried in a pocket; wristwatches, however, are the most common type of watch used today. Watches evolved in the 17th century from spring powered clocks, which appeared in the 15th century. The first watches were strictly mechanical. As technology progressed, the mechanisms used to measure time have, in some cases, been replaced by use of quartz vibrations or electromagnetic pulses and are called quartz movements.[1] The first digital electronic watch was developed in 1970.[

V. Smith ShareBar

The Smith ShareBar module allows your customers to share content from your site as follows:

- Twitter
- Facebook
- Google Plus
- Email a Friend - Allows customers to share content with their friends via email.

When a user clicks one of the buttons on the ShareBar, the selected site is loaded in a new window. The new window is automatically filled with content from your site. For example, if the user clicks the ShareBar in the videos module, the URL, title and description of the video is sent to the selected social networking site. Content from articles, reviews, and product descriptions can be shared in a similar fashion, with no configuration needed. The Share via Email option allows a user to share content in an email message.

A. Email Templates

The Email Templates feature in Smith Cart can be used to customize the settings and appearance of the emails on a per-product basis. Please see the Smith Cart User Manual for more information on email templates.
